What is the biggest challenge in maintaining your firm's Atlanta ties as you aim for prominence in the global legal market?

Kilpatrick Townsend, Atlanta's oldest law firm, has been an integral part of the community since 1874 and that will not change. As members of the firm's largest office, our Atlanta attorneys and professional staff are committed to continuing the firm's long legacy of being a legal and civic leader in Atlanta even as we continue to grow throughout our 20 offices in the U.S., Europe and Asia.

What changes do you foresee as your clients and the firm endure the impact of the coronavirus pandemic and its economic effects?

Kilpatrick Townsend has been providing legal counsel to many of the world's leading brands for over 160 years and has not only endured but has risen to meet the numerous challenges of world events throughout its history. Working closely and partnering with our valued clients, we continue to assist them as they navigate and succeed in today's changing global landscape.
