

Global Investigations, Anti-Bribery & FCPA

"The team is strong, knowledgeable and helpful. Their services are outstanding and I would highly recommend them."

Chambers USA

Kilpatrick's Global Investigations, Anti-Bribery & FCPA practice provides sophisticated and critical legal representation in navigating cross-border investigations. Our expertise derives from our experience in defending clients in government corruption, Foreign Corrupt Practices Act (FCPA), bribery and other multinational criminal investigations, as well as in conducting internal global investigations and compliance audits for clients in more than 45 countries and territories.

The team conducts complex factual investigations in a wide variety of industries and locales and advises clients on the criminal, civil, regulatory, and corporate governance repercussions of the investigative findings. We understand the diverse cultures involved and have established close relationships with local attorneys, which have allowed us to strengthen clients' internal controls and procedures, help clients avoid or contain risks, and strategically interface with U.S. authorities for the best possible results.

The team has direct experience with the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) and the U.S. Securities & Exchange Commission (SEC), including their respective FCPA Units. As such, we have earned a reputation for conducting comprehensive and reliable internal investigations for clients in difficult situations. These matters have also involved foreign authorities, such as the United Kingdoms Serious Fraud Office, German authorities, and Chinese State Administration for Market Regulation.

Our Global Investigations, Anti-Bribery & FCPA practice is further complemented by our White Collar Crime & Internal Investigations teams corporate monitorship and auditing experience.
