

Insights: Publications

Late But Not Too Late | Submitting Post-Filing Data During Patent Prosecution in Selected Jurisdictions

Kilpatrick Townsend MEMO|Biopharma Industry Blog

March 16, 2021

Written by Yifan Mao

Intellectual Property counsel often face the dilemma of when to file a patent application: as soon as possible, or wait and gather more support? Filing an application “early” helps to avoid anticipatory prior art but if the application is filed too early, the applicant may risk rejections during examination for lack of supportive evidence.

Related People

Yifan Mao

t 650.324.6311

ymao@ktslaw.com