Insights: News Releases

Raymond Aghaian Named Cybersecurity & Data Privacy Trailblazer by the National Law Journal

NOVEMBER 10, 2016

LOS ANGELES (November 10) – The National Law Journal (NLJ) recognized Raymond Aghaian as a 2016 Cybersecurity & Data Privacy Trailblazer in the NLJ's special issue published on October 31. The NLJ selected only 50 honorees who have helped "make a difference in the fight against criminal cyberactivity."

The NLJ highlighted Mr. Aghaian's role in representing companies in securing systems and setting-up infrastructure in addition to his experience with the Cyber & Intellectual Property Crimes Section of the U.S. attorney's office where he "specialized in investigations of computer hacking cases and enforcement of the Computer Fraud and Abuse Act." To read the NLJ profile on Mr. Aghaian, please click here.

Mr. Aghaian focuses his practice on white collar criminal defense, cybersecurity, complex civil litigation, and internal investigations. He served as an Assistant United States Attorney with the Department of Justice in the Central District of California where he was a member of the Cyber & Intellectual Property Crimes Section.

Mr. Aghaian was also selected as one of the "Most Influential Lawyers in White Collar & Cyber Crimes Law" in 2015 by the Los Angeles Business Journal. His experience in the area of cybersecurity has been recognized by leading news outlets such as The Wall Street Journal and The Washington Post.