Insights: Publications

Boeing Case Overcharge Ruling May Not Survive If Appealed

Law360

MARCH 10, 2020 Written by James F. Bogan III and C. Allen Garrett Jr.

For a plaintiff to have standing to sue in federal court, Article III of the U.S. Constitution requires an injury in fact caused by the challenged conduct. Federal standing under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act requires a bit more: A RICO plaintiff must demonstrate an injury to business or property caused by the RICO violation.

Related People

James F. Bogan III
t 404.815.6467
jbogan@ktslaw.com

C. Allen Garrett Jr.
t 404.815.6141
agarrett@ktslaw.com