Complex Commercial Litigation

Lynn Charbonneau is a paralegal on Kilpatrick's Complex Commercial Litigation (CCL) Team. She has been with Kilpatrick for 37 years. She has managed hundreds of complex cases from complaint through trial in every major U.S. hotbed of litigation, including the Northern District of California, Southern District of New York and Eastern District of Texas, numerous state, federal, appellate, and business courts, as well as arbitration (AAA, JAMS, FINRA, NASD) and mediation forums. She assists the firm's attorneys with drafting and e-filing pleadings, drafting discovery, deposition preparation, hearing and trial preparation, and trial evidence presentation.

Lynn also served four years as a member of Kilpatrick's LitSmart® E-Discovery Team giving her in-depth expertise in collection, review, and preparation of documents for production as well as subpoena response and preservation compliance. Lynn's extensive background in litigation makes her an invaluable resource for attorneys and clients on all aspects of litigation and compliance with federal, state, and local rules.

Lynn has experience with numerous software platforms including Relativity, the industry-leading e-discovery management system used in-house at Kilpatrick, IPro, West Case Notebook, Concordance, and Summation.

In 2014, she was a recipient of the Kilpatrick Pro Bono Collaboration Award. In 2024, she was the recipient of the Kilpatrick Pro Bono Justice Award.
