Steve Gardner is a nationally recognized attorney focusing on counseling and representing clients who are seeking to strategically meet objectives, solve problems, and grow in the intellectual-property field.

He provides advanced counseling, representation, and assistance via

- 30+ years of deep and varied experience
- knowledge of cutting-edge legal thinking and state-of-the-art practices
- acumen in a wide range of technologies, and
- access to a team of attorneys from his firm, a firm with one of the highest-rated IP practices in the world

Steve has worked with some of the top companies internationally on nearly every facet of intellectual property for decades, stays abreast of developments in the field, generates and suggests new and creative ideas, and provides a high degree of responsiveness.

He served as co-chair of the Kilpatrick Patent Litigation Team for a decade and has represented companies in more than 100 lawsuits in the federal courts of 15 states and in proceedings before the Patent Trial and Appeal Board, the U.S. Supreme Court, and the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

Prior to joining the firm, Steve served as a law clerk to the Hon. Alvin A. Schall, U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, Washington, D.C., and to the Hon. Frank W. Bullock Jr., U.S. District Court for the Middle District of North Carolina.

His experience also includes providing advanced and strategic advice that incorporates his 25+ years of in-depth and varied experience with sophisticated companies. This includes providing innovative advice and assistance in an array of analytical and strategic projects, such as litigation management and avoidance; enterprise risk management; pre-litigation services, such as responding to threat letters and licensing invitations; license negotiations; communication with C-level executives; increasing the quality and value of patent applications; second opinions relative to litigation and patent-related advice; internal investigations; analyzing patents held by competitors; freedom to operate analysis; providing written opinions; monetization strategy advice; crafting policies and procedures; and serving as general intellectual-property counsel.

He has represented clients in a wide variety of intellectual-property transactions, such as analyzing and negotiating indemnification agreements and arrangements; engaging in intellectual-property due diligence relating to acquisitions; and negotiating agreements relative to intellectual property, such as patent licenses and software licenses.

A registered patent attorney, his experience spans the technical landscape.

Steve has been an invited speaker on intellectual property and other topics at seminars in Atlanta, Boston, Charlotte, Chicago, Detroit, Houston, New York, Palo Alto, Philadelphia, Raleigh, San Francisco, San Jose, Seattle, and Washington, D.C., sponsored by the American Bar Association, Association of Corporate Counsel, American Intellectual Property Law Association, Duke University, Wake Forest University, Association of University Technology Managers, New York Intellectual Property Law Association, and others.
