Kilpatrick Grows Transactional Tax Team in New York

August 1, 2024

Jamie Null Deepens Firm's Transactional Tax Practice

NEW YORK (August 1) – Kilpatrick announced today that James "Jamie" Null has joined the firm's New York office as a partner. Mr. Null will be a member of Kilpatrick's nationally recognized Transactional Tax Team in the firm's Corporate, Finance and Real Estate Department. He was previously a partner at Loeb & Loeb LLP.

Mr. Null focuses his practice on transactional tax issues associated with U.S. inbound and outbound investments. He also concentrates on domestic and international tax planning for individual corporate and partnership transactions. Mr. Null advises on private equity investments and structures, and on domestic and cross-border mergers and acquisitions. His practice spans a range of industries, including real estate, entertainment, media, biotechnology, alternative energy, hospitality, transportation and technology.

Mr. Null has substantial experience with real estate-related transactions, including sophisticated like-kind exchanges involving domestic and foreign interest holders. He also works frequently in the media and entertainment sector, advising U.S. and non-U.S. entertainment clients on the production and talent side on U.S. and international entertainment investments and joint ventures, productions, and events.

"Kilpatrick has made a number of strategic investments in our corporate practices this year, including welcoming fellow Transactional Tax Partner Elizabeth Guidi to our New York office and expanding our presence in Chicago. Jamie's deep experience in solving transactional tax issues will provide invaluable support for our clients' sophisticated matters," said Lynn Fowler, Kilpatrick Tax Team Chair. "We're excited to welcome Jamie to the firm and to our New York office."

"Kilpatrick's outstanding reputation for client service and collaboration attracted me to the firm," said Jamie Null. "I look forward to working closely with the corporate practices on diverse matters across a range of industries, particularly in the M&A, investment management, and private equity space."

Mr. Null earned his LL.M. from New York University School of Law, his J.D. from the University of Miami School of Law, and his undergraduate degree in Politics from Brandeis University.
