

Insights: Publications

Telecoms Face Tough Tax Questions Surrounding Realty Versus Personality Classifications

Journal of State Taxation

July 21, 2017

Written by David A. Hughes

The distinction between tangible personal property and real property for tax purposes is a significant one, especially for telecommunication companies. This article explores the ramifications of treating something as tangible personal or real property for sales/use and property tax purposes.

Related People

David A. Hughes

t 312.606.3212

dhughes@ktslaw.com