MARCH 18, 2014

Final Employer Reporting Regulations

The time and cost of complying with any additional reporting requirement is never good news. However, the final regulations issued on March 10, 2014, regarding employer information reporting under the Affordable Care Act, provide a more streamlined process for reporting than initially anticipated. However, there are always potholes in the road and this is no exception. Please see our Alert below for more information.

Link to Legal Alert