

Insights: Publications

Want to Clerk? Cultivate These Three Attributes

American Bar Association

April 6, 2021

Written by Alexander M. Mallory

The people who stand at the doors of our dreams are not gatekeepers. They are people—just like you and me. No blueprint exists to capture their attention. You simply have to reach them at the right moment. This means you must play the odds. Edit the next application, learn from the last rejection, and repeat the process. When your application falls into the right hands, you will make your connection, and the chaos you have been living in will converge.

Related People

Alexander M. Mallory

t 602.726.7312

amallory@ktslaw.com