Energy

Energy Solutions for the New Millennium

The global energy market is in the midst of generational investment in clean energy. The U.S. is leading this energy transformation with the 2022 Inflation Reduction Act and 2021 Bi-partisan Infrastructure Law, earmarking $400 billion and $60 billion respectively to turbocharge clean energy production and technological advancements. The European Union, through its Green Deal Industrial Plan for the Net-Zero Age, is also seeking to boost access to financing for clean energy, while existing feed-in-tariff systems operating throughout Asia continue to subsidize and encourage renewable energy generation.

At Kilpatrick, we are at the forefront of the evolution of the global energy market. We work with clients who actively shape the future of clean energy production, storage solutions, sustainable fuels, carbon recapture, and other groundbreaking technologies. At the same time, we understand the importance of a balanced energy portfolio and remain actively engaged in the oil and gas sector, recognizing its critical role as a bridge to a more sustainable future.

We are committed to fostering long-term relationships with our clients. Our approach combines strategic thinking, meticulous research, and innovative problem-solving to deliver exceptional results.

We are not just legal practitioners; we are partners in our clients' pursuit of a sustainable and prosperous future. Together with our clients, we are shaping the energy landscape while making a positive impact on the world.

Reach

Advancing Renewable and Traditional Energy Frontiers

Our energy team serves a diverse range of clients in the industry. Our clients include forward-thinking organizations that develop or finance projects such as solar, biomass, wind, clean fuels, nuclear and energy storage. Our practice is global. Whether you have an international transaction or an international dispute, our team has the practice breadth to suit a diverse range of engagements.

We fully understand the legal concerns and business objectives of our clients in traditional energy sectors as well as in the clean and renewable energy industry. Whether your company is interested in exploring government incentives or investment opportunities, requires assistance with project finance, seeks knowledgeable deal counsel, or requires experienced construction and infrastructure lawyers, our energy team is well-equipped to meet your needs. We understand the complexities of the energy industry and have a proven record of success in achieving preferred business outcomes and facilitating satisfactory dispute resolution.

We are here to support you in maximizing opportunities for your business while navigating regulatory challenges, handling disputes with private parties or regulators, and addressing concerns involving sovereign entities. Our team's depth of experience and expertise in the energy sector positions us well to provide you with valuable guidance and legal services tailored to your unique circumstances.

Approach

Leading Innovation in Energy Law

Our attorneys hold key leadership positions on many government and corporate energy councils and committees; speak globally on energy-related topics; have direct access to national policymakers and regulatory agencies and have steered clients through some of the most complex disputes in the energy industry. Through the strength of many, we can devise the best solutions to often complex legal matters and help clients uncover new opportunities and potential.

We act as trusted advisors, guiding our clients through the complex landscape of a new millennium in energy production, consumption, and storage. Our comprehensive understanding of the evolving regulatory frameworks, market dynamics, and emerging technologies allows us to provide tailored solutions that maximize your potential and minimize risks.

Primary Contacts

John C. Livingston

Partner

t 919.420.1768

jlivingston@ktslaw.com

John F Pierce

Partner

t 206.626.7726

jfpierce@ktslaw.com

Benjamin W. Smith

Counsel

t 919.420.1719

bwsmith@ktslaw.com