Complex Commercial Litigation

Diego Wu Min focuses his litigation practice on the defense of consumer class actions involving the California Consumer Legal Remedies Act ("CLRA"), and unfair competition and false advertising claims. Diego also represents clients in actions involving cybersecurity and cryptocurrency issues. Diego's practice also involves counseling companies regarding their compliance with California's "auto renewal law" for subscription and continuous service offers. Diego has experience litigating in Federal and California courts, as well as in commercial and consumer arbitration. Diego's clients range from privately-held businesses to some of the world's largest publicly-traded companies.

Diego participates in a wide range of pro bono matters ranging from compassionate release cases sponsored by the National Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers (NACDL) to updating practice manuals for the National Center for Missing & Exploited Children (NCMEC).

Prior to joining the firm, Diego was an associate in the Oakland, California office of an AmLaw 100 firm, where he primarily handled environmental or toxic tort cases involving chemical and substance exposure.

While attending Indiana University Robert H. McKinney School of Law, Diego served as a judicial extern for the Honorable Jane Magnus-Stinson in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of Indiana. He also participated in the patent externship program of a national pharmaceutical company headquartered in Indianapolis, Indiana. Diego was a research assistant for Professor Xuan-Thao Nguyen and the Executive Managing Editor for the Indiana Health Law Review, Volume XIV.

Diego was recognized in 2025 and 2026 as one of the "Best Lawyers: Ones to Watch" for Commercial Litigation by The Best Lawyers in America®.

Diego is fluent in Spanish and has basic knowledge of Mandarin Chinese. Outside of his legal work, Diego can be found attempting to improve his golf game, rooting for the Nittany Lions, and cooking all types of cuisine.
