Insights: Publications

Software Development Agreement Drafting and Negotiating

LexisNexis | Practical Guidance

MAY 24, 2023 Written by Sonia Baldia

A Practical Guidance® Practice Note by Sonia Baldia, Kilpatrick Townsend & Stockton LLP.

A software development agreement is a contract for the design, development, testing, installation, and implementation of new or customized software, including modification of currently existing software (collectively, referred to as “custom software”). Ongoing maintenance for the custom software may also be included in the agreement, depending on the scope of the project.

Related People

Sonia Baldia
t 202.508.5840
sbaldia@ktslaw.com