Insights: Publications

Spoiler Alert! Another Legal Update on Data Preservation and Spoliation Implications

LitSmart E-Discovery Blog

JANUARY 28, 2025 Written by Caroline Maass

There appears to be a recent theme on this blog regarding data preservation and spoliation, and—not to spoil anyone's appetite for this important topic—we are back with another one. And for good reason given the heightened risk of spoliation sanctions in today's increasingly data-driven legal landscape. A recent order in Safelite Group, Inc. v. Lockridge is one of many that highlights the growing need to stay apprised of the various steps necessary to ensure compliance with essential data preservation requirements.

Related People

Caroline Maass
t 336.607.7346
cmaass@ktslaw.com