

Insights: Publications

Patent Trends In The Expanding World of Blockchain

Law360

June 27, 2019

Blockchain technology adoption has increased rapidly in recent years. The proliferation of tools for big data analysis and artificial-intelligence-based processing pushes organizations to collect and make available large amounts of data. Blockchain provides a secure, distributed and efficient way for organizations to track, trade, organize and store data.