Winning the E-Discovery Groundhog Day with Data Repositories

SEPTEMBER 14, 2017 Written by Katie King

As clients become more engaged as stakeholders in the EDRM, they hope to avoid a “groundhog day” loop of collect, process, review and produce in one case, then rinse and repeat for ensuing matters which cover a similar data universe. An e-discovery data repository containing previously processed, and often previously reviewed, data can short circuit this loop.
