

Insights: Publications

How to Relate Traditional Project Management Techniques to Electronic Discovery Management

KTlitSmart Blog

November 13, 2019

Written by Amy L. Catton

There is a lot of talk around project management across all industries. In fact, according to Quora.com, the US alone has approximately 290,000 people that hold the PMP® (Project Management Professional) certification. I am one of those individuals. When I was first introduced to the PMP curriculum I was not sure how it would complement my e-discovery skill set but I soon learned it provides a valuable set of tools that can be directly translated to the e-discovery industry.

Related People

Amy L. Catton

t 404.685.6780

acatton@ktslaw.com