Insights: Publications

Defensive Patenting Strategies for Blockchain Innovators

Law360

OCTOBER 10, 2017

Blockchain — the distributed ledger technology underlying bitcoin — has the potential to have a revolutionary impac far beyond cryptocurrencies. Fundamentally, a blockchain is an immutable record of transactions — each one cryptographically verifiable and linked to the other transactions — that allows for accurate and secure transfers of digital assets without requiring a middleman or trusted broker such as a bank.
