From Worked to Billed to Collected: The Complex Context of Law Firm Invoices

Strategies and Voices

October 24, 2022

Written by Dillon A. Colgan

It is well understood that time entry and invoicing are critical functions for efficient law firms. Most have well-documented processes to effectively deliver invoices to their clients; however, these processes can often fall short, primarily because they are tedious, administratively burdensome, and costly for the firm and its clients.
