Annual competition honors customers who are building outstanding applications and integrations on top of Relativity

Press Release – CHICAGO, IL – October 7, 2015 – Kilpatrick Townsend & Stockton today announced that it has been named a finalist for the Relativity Innovation Award for Best Law Firm Solution.

Kilpatrick Townsend achieved this distinction for their LitSmart e-Discovery Processes application, a case management tool that improves the tracking of day-to-day activities and projects for cases, helps cost projection, increases defensibility of processes, and expands Kilpatrick's service offerings to include legal project management in addition to the project management typically associated with e-discovery.

Kilpatrick Townsend works to deliver its clients an exceptional experience based on its leading-edge approach to providing on-demand reporting with respect to e-discovery status via a Cael interface; a new team model created to include the extensive use of project management discipline and the certification of the firm's Project Managers as Project Management Professionals (PMPs); and the unique overall approach that the firm has taken to flatten e-discovery costs for clients and provide foreseeability in budgeting.

"Kilpatrick Townsend is proud to be a finalist for the Relativity Innovation Award for Best Law Firm Solution," said Craig Cannon, Kilpatrick Townsend Team Leader and Global Discovery Counsel. "This prestigious and coveted honor is a testament to the firm's strong commitment to innovation and client service. Having Kilpatrick Townsend be recognized among the nation's e-discovery industry elite is a significant milestone."

kCura, developers of the e-discovery software Relativity, will recognize finalists and announce winners during a special ceremony at Relativity Fest, held October 11-14 in Chicago. Judges selected solutions that use various application integration points to display a full use of the Relativity APIs' capabilities to streamline processes, solve complex workflow needs, and create an altogether new solution that positively impacts their business strategy.

"We're excited to recognize Kilpatrick Townsend in this year's Relativity Innovation Awards for building a comprehensive case management application," said Andrew Sieja, President and CEO of kCura. "It's great to
