Insights: Publications

How Chicago's Rental Car Tax Crossed the Line

Law360

FEBRUARY 27, 2017 Written by Lauren A. Ferrante

Lauren Ferrante co-authored this article on Hertz Corp v. City of Chicago, in which the Illinois Supreme Court overturned as unconstitutional the City of Chicago tax on vehicle rentals outside the city. “Hopefully, the court's ruling will stymie the city's expansive interpretation of its taxing powers,” the authors wrote, adding that the city's recent extension of its lease tax to cloud computing “is now particularly susceptible to challenge.”

Related People

Lauren A. Ferrante
t 312.224.1039
lferrante@ktslaw.com